

A large, light gray rectangular area is positioned in the center of the page, serving as a workspace. It is bounded by a white border. Inside this gray area, there are seven horizontal black lines, evenly spaced, which function as a template for writing or drawing.

